

TO VISIT MINES

Commissioners Decline Mr. Baer's Offer of Free Train.

Will Start Into the Coal Fields on Next Thursday.

Anthracite Strike Operators Hear President Mitchell and the Operators—Miners' Demands are Presented to the Commission.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Preliminaries were agreed upon at the meeting of the anthracite strike commission, which began at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the hearing room of the Inter-State Commerce Commission and lasted two hours. All the commissioners were present, with Judge George Gray presiding.

The committee decided to begin its work next Thursday morning at nine o'clock by a physical examination of the mines and the homes of the miners, starting in the vicinity of Scranton. The entire anthracite field will be covered. There was considerable discussion over a proposition made by the commission to have an expert accountant audit the statements of wages and classification of miners to be made by the operators for the use of the commission. President Gray at the conclusion announced the commission's intention to appoint such an accountant in case his services are found necessary.

President Mitchell as the representative of the miners, presented a copy of the original declaration of the miners, formulated by the Shamokin convention, as the basis of the demands of the miners. First, for an increase of 20 per cent in wages of those not engaged by the day; second, a reduction of 20 per cent in working hours of those engaged by the day; third, the payment for coal mined by weight at a minimum rate of 60 cents per ton of 2,240 pounds; fourth, a wage agreement between the operators and the miners for an adjustment of wages.

President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers, District President Fahy and Walter Edward Weyl appeared for the miners, and the coal carrying roads were represented as follows: President Baer of the Philadelphia & Reading, E. B. Thomas, Chairman of the board of the Pennsylvania Coal Company and Hillsdale Coal and Iron Company; Alfred Walter, President of the Lehigh Valley; W. H. Truesdale, President of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western; David Wilcox, Vice President of the Delaware & Hudson; John B. Herr, Vice President of the Scranton Coal Company and Elk Hill Coal and Iron company; J. H. Torrey, attorney for the Delaware & Hudson, and Francis I. Gowan, attorney for the Lehigh Valley Company. President Mitchell is to present the statement in behalf of the miners next Monday and the operators will hand in their answer to it within three days thereafter. When Mitchell started to speak to the commission President Baer objected to his appearance as a representative of the United Mine Workers of America, but said he had no objection to offer against Mr. Mitchell's appearance as a representative of the anthracite coal miners generally. Mr. Baer's object was to avoid the recognition of the mine workers' union as an order. Mr. Mitchell replied that the objections raised as to his status were not involved in the case. He said that he appeared as a representative of the anthracite coal miners, and distinctly refrained from mentioning the union.

President Baer offered to furnish a special train free to take the commission to and through the anthracite fields. The commissioners unanimously decided not to accept this offer but to pay their own expenses accepting no favors and relying on the government to reimburse them if so disposed.

An agreement was reached to leave the Hotel Jermyn in Scranton at nine o'clock next Thursday morning for the first tour of inspection. There was, however, no agreement as to what mines should be visited first, that point being left for future determination.

The operators will not act as a body. Each corporation will submit its own testimony, based on the distinctive features of mining in its own territory.

At only one time was it necessary for Judge Gray President of the commission to say anything sharp. That was when Mr. Thomas said he hoped the proceedings would be an investigation and not an arbitration. The Judge put a stop to any more talk like that by remarking that the instructions of the President defined what it was to be and they make it clear that the duty of the commission will be to arbitrate.

The 5th, 14th and 18th regiments in the Pennsylvania coal fields left for home today.

Panama Project Assured.

Paris, Oct. 28.—The announcement of the decision of Attorney-General Knox that he found the title to the Panama Canal property valid and unincumbered has been received here with much satisfaction. M. Lampre, secretary of the company, says Mr. Knox's decision assures the carrying out of the Panama project.

McKinley Memorial.

Cleveland, Oct. 28.—Ryerson Ritchie treasurer of the McKinley memorial fund, says the committee now has over a half million in hand, but the work will not begin till an endowment fund approaching $100,000 has been secured.

Thanksgiving Day.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Pres. Roosevelt will issue a Thanksgiving proclamation directly after election. It will be one of the most enthusiastic ever written. The millennium will probably not come in our day," he said to a friend, "in fact the millennium will probably always be six months off, but we are working towards better conditions every day, and as long as we keep on the upward path we cannot be called a national failure.

COOK

Had Consumption—Said to Have Caused Several Deaths.

Philadelphia, Oct. 28.—Dr. Dan J. Hughes, one of the most noted alienists in the country, and chief physician of the Philadelphia Hospital and Almshouse died today of consumption, the direct result, it is claimed, of eating food prepared by a cook with tuberculosis. The cook was a patient pressed into service for the sake of economy. It is charged that five other physicians caught consumption in the same way and also three nurses, one of whom died.

FOUR

Masked Men Robbed an Iowa Bank Early This Morning.

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 28.—Four masked men robbed the Prairie City State Bank of $3,700 at 4 o'clock this morning. Eight charges of dynamite were necessary to blow the safe. Before making their escape the robbers fired a number of shots to terrify those attracted to the scene.

WARFARE

On Union Labor and Its Demands Declared by National Association of Manufacturers.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Open warfare on union labor and its demands has been declared by the National Association of Manufacturers. Organization is to be met with an organization and a determined attempt is to be made to defeat at least two bills now before congress and for which union labor is responsible.

The attitude of the association is set forth in a circular letter which has been sent broadcast to manufacturers by President D. M. Parry. It pleads with the manufacturers to band together for fear they "will soon be so enmeshed in hostile legislation that power to advance will practically be destroyed."

The circular states that if Congress passes the eight-hour and anti-conspiracy bills the manufacturers will be at the mercy of their employees. Capital and labor have reached the parting of the ways, it is asserted, it is urged that a fund be established to fight the encroachment of labor and to establish a lobby in Washington to defeat the so-called hostile measures.

The action of the manufacturers has created a furor among labor leaders, who see in it the beginning of a bitter fight. The Manufacturers' association is composed of most of the powerful firms of the country and recently has increased its membership in all the manufacturing centers.

YOUNG

Is To Be Successor of Gen. Miles.

This Statement Is Made By General Corbin.

MILES WILL RETIRE FROM AGE NEXT AUGUST.

RECORD OF GENERAL YOUNG.

He Enlisted in 1861, as a Brigadier General of Volunteers in Spanish War.

Washington, Oct. 28.—"I do not think that I am betraying any confidence when I say that Major General S. B. M. Young will be the next Lieutenant General of the army," says Major General Corbin. "And his promotion will be enjoyed by no one more than by myself."

General Miles will retire from age next August, and this declaration by General Corbin was inspired by some comment to the effect that the appearance of his (General Corbin's) name in the monthly army list next after that of General Miles pointed out the probable succession. As a fact, it is stated that the order of the names in the list was fixed by the seniority of the commissions of the officers. General Young would have six months to serve in that grade if he were made Lieutenant General. Friends of General Corbin say that he should then be promoted to succeed General Young.

Major General S. B. M. Young has had a long and active career in the army. He was born in Pennsylvania, and in April, 1861, enlisted as a private. He was soon appointed Captain in the Fourth Pennsylvania Cavalry, and a year later was promoted to a Major. On October 1, 1864, he was made Lieutenant Colonel and a few months later elevated to the rank of Colonel. April 9, 1865, he was brevetted Brigadier General of Volunteers for gallant and meritorious services.

At the beginning of the war with Spain General Young was made a Brigadier General of Volunteers. Before the war was over he had been honored with the rank of Major General of Volunteers, which rank died with the volunteer army in 1899. He was made a Brigadier General in the regular army in 1900 and sent to the Philippines.

Then followed the daring and successful campaign, conducted under the special direction of General Young, whose cavalry scattered and broke up the insurgent organizations effectually. Upon his return from the Philippines General Young was promoted to Major General and selected by Secretary Root to be President of the Army War College. General Young was also designated as one of the representatives of the United States army at the German maneuvers, and returned from abroad with General Corbin only a few days ago.

Julia Marlow III.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 28.—Manager Mayer of the Academy of Music received a telegram from Julia Marlowe notifying him that owing to her serious illness she will be unable to appear at the Academy, where she was to have begun a week's engagement today in the play of "Queen Elizabeth." In consequence the Academy will be closed this week.

A Happy Reunion.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Miss Nell Shipman, the Ohio woman employed in the Government Printing Office, who shot her father some weeks ago, will not be indicted. The father recovered, and the two are living contentedly together now.

Bigamy Charged.

Toledo, O., Oct. 28.—Oscar J. Leshar, formerly a well known business man, is under arrest at Baltimore on a charge of bigamy retained by the Lucas county grand jury. He married wife No. 1 in Berks county, Pa. in 1883. No. 2 was Orpha Liscovich of Toledo, whom he married in 1898.

White House Improvements.

Washington, Oct. 28.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt will move back into the White House next week. Four or five of the remodelled living rooms in the second story are now nearly ready for occupancy and the range is ready for the chef in the kitchen.

Dinwiddie's Plum.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Word was received here today that the Philippine commission had appointed Wm. Dinwiddie an American newspaper man, governor of Isabella Province. Mr. Dinwiddie went to the Philippines in 1898 as a correspondent for the New York Herald and a number of magazines.

Glass Strike Ends.

Pittsburg, Oct. 28.—The strike among the laborers of the South Side glass houses ended this morning. All the plants gave the demand of a ten per cent advance and the men returned to work. The advance places them in the same position they were last year. Late in the season they were cut ten per cent and this they have regained.

CHILD

Stolen by Unknown Men Was Returned—A Mistake Made.

Bay Shore, L. I., Oct. 28.—Two unknown men seized Eleanor, the four-year-old daughter of Mrs. Charles Thurber on the streets here last evening and placed the child in a carriage. Then they discovered that they had made a mistake and restored the child to Mrs. Wilson, saying that they were after Ethel Morse, the daughter of J. Morse, said to be a wealthy Syracuse contractor. Ethel Morse is in the keeping of Mrs. Wilson, whom Mrs. Thurber had been visiting.

SUPREME

Court Renders an Important School Law Decision Tuesday.

Columbus, O., Oct. 28.—The supreme court this morning rendered a judgment ousting the Spellmire board of education and abolishing the special school district on the Hamilton and Butler county line which the legislature last winter attempted to create by a special law. The case will be reported. The report will show the law to be unconstitutional and it is expected that the opinion will lay down a doctrine, the application of which would wipe out practically the school laws of the state.

HE MUST ANSWER

Columbus, Oct. 28.—John M. Evans, general manager of the Keystone Copper and Gold Mining company of Pittsburg, must go back to Pennsylvania from Youngstown, O., to answer the charge of obtaining $11,000 by false pretense. He resisted the requisition on the ground that he was in Arizona at the time of the transaction and therefore could not be guilty of committing a crime in Pennsylvania. Governor Nash today overruled this contention.

GIVING BOND

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 28.—Eighteen of twenty persons named in 25 indictments returned by the grand jury in the grave robbery cases have been arrested. All have given bond except the negroes of Rains Cantrell's alleged gang of grave robbers. The only indicted persons yet at large are Dr. Chas. Byrkit of Castleton and James Harvey, colored. Dr. Byrkit today notified Sheriff Savich that he would come to the city at once and furnish bond.

Nina Danforth, the dwarf, will probably be put on trial next week at Boston for killing fireman Emery.

SHOT HIS FRIEND

While Hunting Ducks at Buckeye Lake Today.

Mr. Loomis Wild With Grief Over The Sad Tragedy.

Victim of the Accident Was Lafayette Hull—Both Loomis and Hull Well Known Men of Columbus, Ohio.

Buckeye Lake, Oct. 28.—While duck shooting this morning at Lakeside, Clarence Loomis in attempting to shoot a duck, discharged a load of shot into the breast of his friend, Lafayette Hull, aged 35, at close range.

Mr. Hull lived about two minutes. Both men live in Columbus and are prominent in a steel plant there. Loomis is wild with grief and it required the efforts of several men to restrain him from harming himself.

MINISTER WU RECALLED

High Honor Conferred Upon Diplomat Who Will Direct the Commerce of His Native Country --To Leave Soon.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Wu Ting Fang, who has been the minister of the Chinese empire to the United States since May 1, 1897, has been recalled to China by an edict of the emperor cabled to Minister Wu by the Chinese foreign office.

The edict is peremptory. Mr. Wu being directed to return to China at as early date as possible, even the route by which he is to make his voyage from this country being indicated. The edict informs Mr. Wu that he has been appointed minister of commerce in association with Chang Chi Tung. He takes the position just vacated by Sheng, whose father died recently.

Under a peculiar provision of Chinese law, when an officeholder loses by death his father and mother, he vacates his office and he is not eligible to hold office again for three years, although by custom the period of his official mourning is reduced to 27 months. Mr. Wu said that he might be able to leave this country in about three weeks, but the precise date of his departure has not been determined.

Mr. Wu also received a cablegram announcing that he had been appointed one of the two members of a commission to negotiate commercial treaties with foreign powers. He will be at the head of this commission and will have associated with him Mr. Lu, who until about a year ago, was the Chinese Minister to Germany. Mr. Wu has been ordered to proceed directly to Shanghai. It is probable that headquarters of the commission will be in that city.

Mr. Wu will be accompanied to China by Madame Wu and some members of his personal suite, but he says that whether he would leave his young son in the country had not been determined. He desires that his son shall have a good American education, and he may conclude to leave him in the United States, at least for a time.

SLEW THE SUITOR

For His Daughter's Hand Because of Threats—McCammon Said He Would Shoot The Whole Family and Drew His Gun.

Sullivan, Ind., Oct. 28.—Newton B. Stough, postmaster at Riverton, ten miles west of this city, shot Herbert McCammon, death resulting instantly. McCammon, who was the sweetheart of Sadie Stough, the daughter of Newton Stough, had just returned home from a service in the regular army.

During his enlistment he sent Sadie a gold watch and his photograph. Since his return home it seems that she had refused to have anything to do with him.

Mrs. Lizzie Stough, wife of Newton Stough, and an eye witness to the tragedy, tells the following story: "Mr. Herbert McCammon came to my house yesterday about noon and asked for my daughter Sadie. My husband told him that she was in the kitchen and he called her. She came to the door and McCammon told her he wanted his photograph and gold watch. Sadie said 'All right,' and started to get them, but he said that was not all he wanted—that he had come to kill the whole family. McCammon was standing in the door when he said this. When Sadie returned to the kitchen, McCammon followed her and drew the gun on her and said he would kill her. Mr. Stough grabbed the gun and McCammon jerked him down and struck him a blow with his left fist, knocking him down. He then drawed the gun on Mr. Stough who ran into the yard. McCammon following, threatening to kill him and the whole family. Mr. Stough returned to house and McCammon followed with the gun cocked.

"Just as he reached the door Mr. Stough grabbed his own shotgun and told him not to come in. McCammon still advanced, whereupon Mr. Stough fired a shot into McCammon's breast. McCammon staggered out of the door with his gun still in his hand, turned and drew the gun on Mr. Stough, when Mr. Stough fired again, the shot striking him in the neck and head. McCammon dropped his gun, walked a few feet and then fell to the ground. Sadie walked out to where he was lying on the ground. McCammon opened his eyes and said 'Sadie, come here,' whereupon she told him that she would not 'for you wanted to kill me.' McCammon then said 'Go to hell!' He asked for a pillow, which I got and laid under his head, and then I left him. He died a few moments later. McCammon was drinking considerably and had a pint of whisky in his pocket."

Newton Stough has always borne a good reputation and the general opinion is that the shooting was justifiable. He gave himself over to the authorities and is now in jail here.

BATTED BALL DROVE BLADE INTO SPECTATOR'S HEART

A Young Man at Morristown, Ohio, Named Stanton Walker is the Victim of a Peculiar and Fatal Accident.

Belmont, O., Oct. 28.—At Morristown, a baseball game was in progress, and among the spectators many were sitting on a fence near the diamond. Among those who occupied seats on the fence was Stanton Walker, who was with a party of friends. For some purpose or other Walker spoke to a friend who was occupying a seat alongside of him and asked him if he would lend him his penknife.

The request was granted. The penknife, with the blade opened, was handed to Walker with the blade pointing toward his body. Just as Walker grasped the knife, and before he had time to point the blade in a direction opposite to that in which it was handed to him, a batted ball struck him on the hand with awful force.

The ball struck the hand in which the knife was firmly grasped and apparently struck the knife on the end of the handle, for Walker's hand was knocked against his breast with such force that the open blade of the knife was driven into his body and penetrated his heart. Walker fell from the fence without saying a word or giving a gasp. Friends rushed to his assistance and carried his lifeless body off the field. The fatality created intense excitement.

Walker was a well known young man, a resident of Morristown and a son of respectable parents. His father is a shoe maker.

REPUBLICAN "ECONOMY"

The People of Newark Have Had a Dose of it and Don't Want Any More of it.

"Vote for the Republican ticket and economy!" proclaims the American Tribune. That is the very same plea the Newark Republican organ made to get control of the city a few years ago. The result was that when the Republicans gained control by this sort of preaching the first thing they did was to INCREASE both the rate of taxation and the city debt.

The highest taxes ever levied in the city of Newark, before or since, was assessed by the Republican majority that got into power at that time by means of howling "Democratic extravagance," and preaching "Republican economy."

But that same Republican majority did not stop at increasing taxes. It INCREASED the city debt to the highest notch it ever reached in the city's history.

That was the kind of economy the Republicans furnished when they got the power, and it is the same kind of economy the people would get now if they were foolish enough to trust that party with full sway again.

Republican economy indeed! The people of Newark have had a bitter experience with the article and they DO NOT WANT ANY MORE OF IT.

A Costly Experience.

In one breath the American-Tribune champions the new municipal code and indulges in extravagant praise of its provisions. In the next breath it pretends to preach "economy." And yet the new code saddles an increase of expenditure on all the smaller cities of the state for salaries of officers amounting to many thousands of dollars. In the city of Newark there will be salaries to pay for at least FIFTEEN NEW OFFICERS. The people will have to be taxed to pay for these salaries. This means not only an INCREASE IN THE EXPENSE of the city government, but it means that there will be LESS MONEY AVAILABLE FOR CITY IMPROVEMENTS.

The new code will be an expensive experience for all cities like Newark. And it has been forced upon them against their will by the Republican majority in the State Legislature. This is Republican "economy!" This is Republican "Home Rule!" It will be a costly experience. Let the people show how they like it when they vote on November 4.

Massachusetts is still the place which produces men who are not afraid to speak out plainly. Secretary Moody, of the navy department, said in a speech out West, regardless how timid politicians may shrink from the truth, that 67 cents duty on anthracite "was smuggled into the tariff act" in a "sneaking and cowardly manner." Does "sneaking and cowardice" in tariff legislation not warrant tariff revision?

That Republican "economy" which the American-Tribune talks about in begging for a "change," is a misnomer. Economy is something unknown and unheard of everywhere that the Republican party is in power. The Republican party is the party of extravagance—that is its record wherever it has control of affairs. The experience of every locality is that a "change of administration" from Democratic to Republican control has proved to be expensive. Republican performance has always been a violation of Republican promises. Taxes, debts and expenditures have always increased when Republicans got into power and the people never failed to experience extravagance instead of the promised economy.

A WOMAN'S PLUCK

[Original.]

"Joe Bixby, yer wanted for the murder of Tom Venable." The speaker had ridden up to a cabin on a plantation in the south and addressed a man sitting in a chair before his door. Bixby was a northern man who, having lost his health, had decided to live an outdoor life in a genial climate. With his wife he had gone south and settled in Georgia.

"Tom Venable? Who's Tom Venable?" said Bixby with a bewildered air. His question was not answered, for at the moment a number of men joined the first corner, and handclaps were clapped on Bixby's wrists. Alice, Joe's wife, came to the door in time to see her husband led away.

"They think I've murdered somebody, Alice," said Joe, "and are going to take me to town for a few days, but I'll all come out right. Don't worry."

It was soon after the close of the civil war and at the height of the carpetbag days, when northern settlers in the south were in constant terror. The "committee" had poured upon Joe more for the purpose of terrorizing carpetbaggers than in the cause of justice. Instead of taking him to a county seat and turning him over to the authorities, they carried him to a deserted log cabin, in which they confined him. After supper they smoked and considered what to do with him. The conclusion was to give him a Judge Lynch trial the next morning, the result of which was predetermined. A man was left on guard at the cabin door, and the party went to sleep in a barn near by.

When Alice Bixby saw her husband led away by the committee on a charge of murder, she knew exactly what it meant. For awhile she believed they were taking him to immediate execution, and the thought paralyzed her mentally and physically. Then came the hope that they might delay the murder, and she began to think what she could do to save him. After many plans had been considered and abandoned she hit upon one which she proceeded to put into practice. Arming herself with the only weapon in the house, she took a horse from the stable and followed the party at a distance. About 2 o'clock in the morning she suddenly appeared before the men in charge of the prisoner and begged piteously for an interview.

"Couldn't on no account," replied the guard. "Go away from yere or I'll call out the committee."

"What'll they do with him?"

"Waal, I reckon they'll hang him tomorrow."

Alice pleaded so hard for one last goodbye that the guard finally consented. While she was inside he listened to the conversation, which was a waiting on the part of the woman and attempts to reassure her on the part of the man. At last she bade him farewell and came out. The guard of course kept a rifle ready to receive the prisoner should he attempt to leave when the door was open, but did not expect such an emergency, the words of the man within pointing to a hope that he would be able to prove his innocence. The guard did not know that Alice between her means had been talking in whispers.

"Take this for your kindness," said Alice, giving the guard a watch, "and whenever you look at it think of the woman you have befriended."

The man took the watch, and, resting his rifle in the hollow of his shoulder, studied his eyes in the darkness to examine it. Alice stood by and a little behind him. Suddenly he felt cold metal against his temple and knew that it was the muzzle of a pistol.

"If you move or cry out," said Alice, "I'll pull the trigger." Then she called in a low voice, "All right, Joe."

As Joe left the cabin Alice felt the guard move. She pressed the steel the harder against his temple, reminding him that it was still there, and he resumed his immobility. He saw his prisoner disappear in the darkness and heard a horse crashing through the bushes. The sounds ceased; still Alice stood rigid. Had the guard seen the pale face above him and recognized that she was straining every nerve to keep from swooning he might have risked a stroke for the upper hand. He waited, expecting every moment a change in the situation, but no change came. Finally he said:

"How long's this g'd to last?"

"Move and you die!"

Alice knew that all depended on keeping the man as he was as long as possible. Joe was not mounted on a fleet horse, and unless he secured a good start it would be easy for the dozen men who had arrested him going in different directions to catch him. The watch, which the guard still held in his hand, not daring to make a motion to throw it down, ticked loudly. To steady herself Alice counted its beats, but a minute seemed so long that she desisted. A gray streak appeared in the east, and she could see the time.

It was 4 o'clock. She had entered the cabin about 3. Joe had an hour's start. The arm that held the weapon was ready to drop, but she did not dare change the hand for fear the prisoner would take advantage of the act to break the situation.

It was sunrise, and Alice knew that Joe was safe, when a man emerged from the barn and saw her and her prisoner. Calling the others, he went over to the hut.

"Drop that," he said to Alice. She dropped her weapon, and the man picked it up, then burst into a roar of laughter.

It was the empty barrel of a pistol with neither lock nor stock.

"Favvny! Would you explain further?"

Of the Platform Adopted at the Democratic State Convention.

In state convention assembled, we, the Democrats of Ohio, hereby acknowledge and declare our continued allegiance to the Democratic party of the nation and on national issues reaffirm and endorse the principles laid down in its last national platform adopted at Kansas City, and which was fully and any represented in the presidential campaign of 1900 by William Jennings Bryan. Regarding those principles as opposed to imperialism and colonialism, as opposed to government by injunction, as opposed to trusts and trust-fostering tariffs, as opposed to financial monopoly and as opposed to all other legalized monopolies and privileges, we condemn every effort to repudiate or ignore them.

In state and municipal affairs we pledge our party to a faithful application of those Democratic principles. To the end that the burdens of taxation may be equalized and home rule and local self-government be established and preserved.

REPUBLICANS ARRAIGNED.

Under the long continued control of the Republican party in this state, monopoly has been fostered and protected; the farmer and the small home owners have been burdened with excessive taxes that the beneficiaries and favorites of that party might be permitted to escape their just share of the public burdens; our public institutions have been wastefully and inefficiently managed and in them scandalous and cruel wrongs have been practiced upon the defenseless wards of the state; the farmers and small shippers continue to suffer from unjust discrimination at the hands of unregulated monopoly; the fine system of municipal government has been wrecked and the credit of cities destroyed, thereby producing a spirit of insecurity and unrest in all public affairs. The people can no longer trust the administration of their affairs to a party thus recklessly devoted to interests adverse to the public welfare. As a more specific statement of our principles upon these and other public question we declare:

TAXABLE PROPERTY.

1. That all taxable property should be appraised by assessing boards which should be in session for at least a part of each year and whose proceedings and deliberations should be open to the public; that power be given to employ a representative to present the interests of the public in hearings before these boards and that in making assessments all property should be appraised at not less than its saleable value.

2. That the present laws for assessing the property of steam railroads and other public service corporations should be so changed as to compel the assessment of those properties at not less than their saleable value as going concerns and to prevent their evasion of just taxation.

CLASSIFICATION.

3. That to prevent evasion of state taxes by discriminating valuations, a separation of the sources of state and local revenues should be made. And to that end, we heartily endorse the constitutional amendment now pending before the people and to be voted on next year, which will permit classifications of taxable property.

4. That all public service corporations should be required by law to make sworn public reports and that the power of visitation and examination over such corporations should be given to the proper auditing officers to the end that the true value of the privileges had by such corporations may be made plain to the people.

FREE PASSES.

5. That the acceptance of free passes or other favors from railroads by public officers or employees should be adequate ground for their removal from office.

6. That the denial of the right of free speech and peaceable persuasion in times of labor disturbances is a denial of the right of free speech, and that government by injunction if persisted in, will wreck the liberties of the people.

MUNICIPAL CODE.

7. That we demand the enactment of a code which provides absolute home rule for municipalities which shall include the right to establish under which that system, as now in use in fire and police departments may be strengthened and perfected and be extended to other municipal departments particularly to water and lighting plants now operated by municipalities and to street car and all public service plants that may hereafter be established under municipal ownership and operation.

HANNA, COX AND FORAKER.

8. That we condemn the vicious and corrupt bargain between the boss of Cincinnati and Ohio's United States Senators to force through the legislature a code that will foist upon the municipalities of Ohio Cincinnati's form of government in order that the power of its boss may be preserved on one hand and on the other hand will perpetuate existing street railway franchises which Ohio's United States Senators represent.

9. That the municipal code should protect the public against all clauses which may be clandestinely placed therein in the special interest of public service monopolies; by requiring that all ordinances granting, renewing, extending or modifying franchises shall be inoperative until confirmed by a majority vote of the people of the municipality, and we are unalterably opposed to the granting of any perpetual franchises.

SENATORIAL NOMINATIONS.

10. That until United States senators are required by amendment to the federal constitution to be elected by popular vote nominations of candidates for United States senator should be made by state conventions. And we hereby direct that in the official call for the next Democratic state convention of Ohio there be embodied a clause providing for the nomination at that convention of Democratic candidate for United States senator and a clause providing for action by said convention, upon all amendments to the state constitution then pending before the people.

Upon these principles of home rule, and just taxation, and to the accomplishment of these purposes in municipal and state affairs, we invite the co-operation of all citizens of Ohio, regardless of their party affiliations on national questions, hereby solemnly pledging our candidates to the faithful observance of this declaration both in letter and spirit.

His Vexing Problem.

The boy was greatly troubled. Is it true, father," he asked, "that they have whipping posts in some states?"

The father assured him that it was. "And do they whip grown people?" asked the boy.

"When they deserve it," said the father.

"Well," asserted the boy, with conviction, "if that's the case I don't see what's the use of growing up."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Get a True Focus.
A habit of looking at things from a distorted angle, of focusing the vision on things that depress and suggest unhappiness and misery, is a destroyer of happiness and success. A man who goes about with a funeral face, thinking "hard times," fearing "dull seasons," disaster, panic and failure wherever his interests center, is never a happy man, rarely a successful one. ## MR. KREAGER

IS ORDAINED AS PRESBYTERIAN MINISTER.

Charge Given Pastor Who Formerly Lived in this County, by Rev. John Montgomery.

Rev. Frank S. Kreager who formerly lived at Hanover, this county, has been ordained as a Presbyterian minister at Celina, Ohio. The Rev. John Montgomery, of Findlay, Ohio, former pastor of the Newrk First Presbyterian church gave the charge to the new pastor.

Mr. Kreager was graduated from the Hanover high school in 1892 and for three years taught school in Licking county. In 1894 he entered college at Delaware, Ohio, finishing the course in 1899. Ohio Wesleyan university conferred the degree A. M. on Mr. Kreager last June on the ground of three years study and graduation from Princeton Theological seminary.

Wednesday afternoon the ministers and elders of the resbyterian church met at Celina, Ohio, holding an adjourned meeting of the Lima Presbytery. Rev. John Montgomery presided in the absence of the moderator. The meeting was opened by Rev. Dr. Hawn who read selections from St. Luke, St. John and St. Paul. Da. Hawn of Delaware, who was Mr. Kreager's former pastor, later preached on the theme, "Liberty."

The most solemn part of the service was the propounding of the questions to the new pastor and to the congregation. After these promises were made by the pastor and the people, Mr. Kreager was ordained by the laying on of the hands of the Presbyterian clergy. The ministers laid their hands upon the head of the kneeling pastor while the Rev. Dr. Hawn made the ordination prayer and gave the right hand of fellowship. The ceremony was beautiful and very impressive.

The Rev. John Montgomery, of Findlay, gave the charge to the new pastor. He gave wise counsel to him to be an ambassador of Christ, a preacher of the Word and a pastor of God's people.

The Rev. Amos O. Raber of Delphos, gave the charge to the people. He was bright and witty in his remarks and gave the congregation the best of advice. The Celina Standard says: The ordination and installation of the Rev. Frank S. Kreager, marks a new era in the history of the Presbyterian church of Celina. He comes superbly equipped for the work; a graduate of Delaware University and of Princeton Theological Seminary. He is a strong preacher and has already gained the hearts of the people. Recently he was married to a charming young woman who belongs to one of the best families in the southern part of the state. There is cause for mutual congratulation in this event and the future of the church is very bright.

RAILROAD NEWS

Affects Only Switchmen.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Vice Grand Master W. G. Lee of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen stated that the demands for higher wages made by the organization affected only switchmen employed in the Chicago district.

"There is to be no excitement connected with this question," said Mr. Lee. "We have had contracts with the various roads for 18 years and the question of higher wages for Chicago switchmen will be settled in conference."

The increase asked amounts to 5 cents an hour.

AUDITORIUM TONIGHT.

Mary Rice, a Chicago school teacher, in speaking of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," said: "I believe it to be the most instructive play on the stage today and one that every man, woman and child should see, for it not only interests adults, but engraves on the juvenile mind a lesson that cannot be easily forgotten." Al W. Martin will bring his big revival to the Auditorium tonight.

Bellaire Shops.

The temporary shops of the B. & O. at Bellaire, are now repairing the last engines that will be overhauled at that place. These shops were built to afford facilities for repairing the large freight engines on the Central Ohio division that were not permitted to run across the river bridge. Now, that the structure is rebuilt, orders have been issued to abandon the temporary shops on the Ohio side and to run all engines to Benwood.

Searles Appointed.

Notice has been received at the local B. & O. shops that the office of assistant superintendent of motive power has been created with headquarters at Pittsburg. E. J. Searles has been appointed to the position. A successor to Master Car Builder E. A. Westcott has not yet been named.—Zanesville Signal.

Local Railway Notes.

Assistant Road Foreman John D. Williams is suffering with a slight attack of ague.

Charles Stidd has been given a position as brakeman on the B. & O. and has been assigned to duty on the C. O. division.

After having been off duty on a short leave of absence Conductor W. S. Wharton has been marked up for service on the L. E. division.

Engineer Henry McGreevy, who has been off duty suffering with a boil on his neck for some time, has recovered and has resumed work.

Brakeman A. L. Reel of the C. O. division, has been given leave of absence for a few days.

Brakeman F. S. Baker has reported for duty on the C. O. division, after a short absence.

Conductor A. B. Danford has returned to work on the L. E. division after a short leave of absence.

Brakeman E. C. Reed of the C. O. division, who has been off for a short rest, has reported for duty.

Fireman George Kunninger, who has been laying off for a few days, has reported for work.

Brakeman O. E. Adams of the L. E. division, has been given a short leave of absence.

Fireman M. Evans, after having been off sick for some days has recovered and has returned to work.

Brakeman T. Stoney has returned to work on the L. E. division, after having been off for a few days.

Ambrose Doyle, a popular B. & O. engineer, who has been off duty for a few days, is again at the throttle of his engine.

Three Pan Handle carpenters are engaged in making repairs at the depot this week.

C. H. Huameland, R. N. Hewett, engineers of the B. & O. S. W., are in the city today.

Pan Handle Lineman J. J. Falla has been given a short vacation.

George J. Moore left for Stranville this morning to accept a position as brakeman on the Pan Handle.

"AFTER THE BALL"

[Original.]

Last night was the end of the house party. There was a dance, and champagne flowed like water.

What did we do after supper? I have a confused remembrance of something going on in the bachelor quarters. Was it boxing or fencing?

Where is my handkerchief? I reach for my dinner jacket on a chair beside my bed and take my handkerchief from the pocket. With it comes a slip of paper. On it is a hasty scrawl in pencil in a feminine hand:

Consider our acquaintance ended. M. Heavens! I have disgraced myself, and Mollie has discarded me. How, when, did it happen? After supper, when we were romping in the drawing room? I don't remember Mollie being there. I must get up at once, go to her and beg forgiveness. Where is my watch? Only 6 o'clock! Not a person will be down before 9. Meanwhile I must toss about in bed, banging the pillow with my head, which aches more and more every minute. Oh, that man should put an enemy into his mouth to steal away his brains! I have not tasted alcoholic drink for six months before last night, and I solemnly resolve never to taste it again.

What could I have said or done to offend her? Doubtless talked thick and showed in other ways that I had been drinking. No wonder she wrote that slip. She, in all her purity, to mate with one who could so forget himself! But when did I receive it? Who brought it to me? How can I expect to remember that since I cannot remember other matters? It is all over between us. Mollie will never overlook my conduct. I'm ruined.

I turned over, buried my face under the bedclothes and groaned.

I looked at my watch every ten minutes. The intervals seemed half an hour. When it was 8 o'clock, I got up, dressed and went downstairs. The house was as still as death. At 9 o'clock I heard a servant in the dining room, and, going in there, I asked for a cup of coffee. This made me feel somewhat more comfortable. Returning to my room, I lay down and dozed till 10 o'clock, then went downstairs again. Most of the guests were at breakfast. I joined them, drank another cup of coffee and swallowed a piece of toast with difficulty. Then I went into the smoking room. Mollie had not yet come down, and I wanted to get out of the way, avoiding a meeting with her in the presence of others. I lighted a cigar, but it tasted bad, and I threw it away. Bob Anderson came in and sat down opposite me. He lit a cigar and sat smoking ruefully. I saw that something was on his mind, and as Bob is a communicative fellow I felt sure it would come out. Presently he came and sat down by me.

"I made an awful ass of myself last night," he said.

"Indeed you did," I replied. I remembered nothing about him the night before, but it soothed me to think that he might have disgraced himself worse than I had done.

"That was an awful break I made at the supper table."

"Yes, it was," I replied.

"The confounded bottle slipped out of my hand. Is there no way to get a wine stain out of silk?"

"None. But you can buy a new dress, I suppose."

"Buy Marion Hunt a new dress! That's what made all the trouble. I offered to do so, and she resented the offer, taking it as an insult. Her father is rich, and she has a fine income in her own right."

"Well, Bob, don't worry. I'm in a worse fix than you. I offended my fiancée, and it is all over between us."

"How did you do that? You certainly were not boozy. You drank nothing but a few glasses of champagne."

"Don't know what I did." I handed him the slip.

"How the deuce did you get hold of that?"

"Found it this morning in the pocket of my dinner jacket."

"Why, it's the identical paper Marion Hunt sent me."

"What?"

"When I covered her dress with a whole bottle of wine, she went upstairs very angry. I scribbled a few words to her begging permission to present her with another dress. She tore off a piece of my note and wrote that on it. But, really, how did you get it?"

It seemed as if a thousand pounds were taken off my shoulders.

"What did we do after supper?" I asked.

"Why, you and I played with the dolls."

"And took off our coats?"

"Certainly."

"And hung them up?"

"No, threw them on chairs."

"Were about of a size?"

"Very close indeed."

"After our tussle I must have put on your coat."

"So that's the explanation."

Without a word I left the room and found Mollie in the hall just going in to breakfast. She held out her hand with that smile of hers which always breaks me down.

"Oh, Tom, what a pity we have to part this morning!"

"Dreadful! Did you notice anything unusual about me last night?"

"No. I went upstairs early with a headache. Why do you ask?"

"Oh, nothing! I had a headache myself this morning, but it's all gone now."

"Meet me in the library in half an hour."

"Sweetheart, I will."

FRANCIS GOULD MARKLEY.

The SPORTING WORLD

E. C. Schaeffer's Career.
E. Carroll Schaeffer of Reading, Pa., the all around amateur champion swimmer, is twenty-three years old. When he entered the University of Pennsylvania a few years ago, he was 5 feet 6 inches in height and weighed about 118 pounds in swimming costume.

E. C. SCHAEFFER, KING OF AMATEUR SWIMMERS.

At that time he was thin and flat chested. He had previously been what might be termed a fair all around swimmer—that is, as far as the average self taught swimmer goes. As he was fond of the water and had considerable pluck Professor George Kistler, the swimming master at the Houghton club, took hold of the youngster and coached him into such form and speed that today he stands out as one of this country's foremost racing men.

Before taking up training for swimming Schaeffer's chest measurement was not much above 32 inches. Today, in condition, he weighs 138 pounds, measures at least 38 inches, chest; stands 5 feet 7 1/2 inches and has a development of upper body and shoulders that gives him great power while racing through the water on the double overarm, by which method of propulsion he has made all his records.

Praise For American Tennis.

The recent official report of W. H. Collins, president of the Lawn Tennis association, on the British lawn tennis players of the United States frankly admits that the international contests demonstrated "that the Americans possess two single players as good at least as our best, but in doubles we have a pair better than anything they can for the moment produce."

Mr. Collins refers to the differences in the games as played in America and England and suggests that the United States and Great Britain adopt a uniform pattern of nets, straps, cords and post supports. He considers the American courts to be "above the average" and acknowledges the excellence of American tennis balls, but says they are harder than the English and thinks the elasticity of the balls should be standardized as well as their size and weight. Mr. Collins also criticizes mildly the laxity of American officials in penalizing "foot faults" and recommends that future international tournaments should include one day's rest, "so that this country might play the same man in singles and doubles."

The American Association.

It is not probable that there will be any changes in next year's American Association baseball circuit, the stories that two southern league cities are to succeed St. Paul and Minneapolis being declared pure rubbish. Toledo will try a new manager, Reising of the Meriden (Conn.) team.

It is said Milwaukee will be managed by Ed Barrows of the Toronto team and Columbus by Murray of Providence.

There is some opposition to President Hickey, and his retirement is among the possibilities. Certain it is the Western league will never treat for peace with the American association as long as Hickey is with the latter organization.

The Eskimo Football Player.

Schouchak, who is playing center on this year's Carlisle Indians' eleven, is the first Eskimo to don the moleskins in this country. He is a typical Eskimo, big, brawny and strong and weighs about 170 pounds. He comes from Tientian Island, having spent his youth as a fisherman in an individual canoe which belonged to a fleet under the command of a tribal chief. Those who have seen him say that he will develop into the best center the Indians ever had. He is a mountain of strength, cool and quick in his actions.

As to Colonel Rogers.

That John I. Rogers is slowly passing out of control of the Philadelphia club is evident by the latest news which comes from the Quaker City. The story says that Al Reach has now secured one-half the interest in the grounds and will gain one-half the stock of the club before the end of the year. He paid $25,000 for his holdings to Rogers and the latter's wife.

New Wing Shooting Record.

A new world's record at wing shooting with rifle was established by Adolph Toeppelwein recently at San Antonio, Tex., when he broke 986 out of 1,000 clay targets thrown from traps. Toeppelwein's previous record was 979.

The All American Bowlers.

The All American Bowling team, which is to start from Dayton, O., for a trip to the Pacific coast, is composed of John J. Voorheis of New York, Phil Wolf of Brooklyn, Ernest Peterson of Chicago and Al Schach of Columbus, O.

THE MUDGE MINING COMPANY

[Original.]

Silas Mudge, a farmer, hearing that an uncle had died in Colorado and had left him a small mining property, concluded to go out and look after it. But the lay had to be got in and the fruits shipped, and it was three months before Silas started.

In Denver he fell in with a drummer who was inclined to make game of the simple farmer. One evening the drummer, being asked in the rotunda of the hotel where Silas was staying, "Who's your country-jake friend?" replied: "That fellow? That's Pinkerton's crack detective. He's on the track of some big rascality. What do you think of his makeup?"

A man sitting near heard the words, started and walked quickly away.

That night, as Silas was going to bed, there was a knock at his door, and a man followed the knock.

"I'm on to your game," he said.

"Reckon I don't understand you, stranger," said Silas astonished.

"I know what you're here for. It's a certain mining company."

"Well?" exclaimed Silas, with eyes and mouth open.

"You can't fool me with that farmer business. You're a Pinkerton man out here to look after us fellows who are getting up the Mudge Mining company. Now, you're off your base. The thing isn't a swindle at all, but a bona fide transaction. The only weak spot in it is the Mudge property, which isn't worth $10 an acre. The other properties are all right. We got our deed to the Mudge land from a rascal who personated the heir. He fooled us beautifully. But we don't want any suspicion cast on our company, and we're ready to do the right thing about this Mudge property."

"How much did you pay for it?"

"Five hundred dollars. We had to have it to carry our ore through. There is no other exit for a road from our other property. What we're afraid of is that if the transfer of the Mudge property to us in a fraudulent manner becomes known it will prevent our floating the stock of our company."

"You mean you're ready to pay me something 'fur goin' back home an' makin' no investigation?"

"We'll take you in on the ground floor if you can engage that the real Mudge heir, whom I suspect you represent, will give us a quitclaim deed to his property. There's $30,000.00 of stock, all of which we own. We're going to put $100,000 of it on the market at a dollar a share. We'll give you $50,000 more stock for the same purpose."

Mudge was no fool. He thought for some time and finally closed with the man. A contract was drawn, a notary was routed out of his bed and all was made complete.

"I see," said the promoter, glancing over the paper, "that you have put everything in the name of the heir."

"Yes," replied Silas.

"Well, then, he'll have either to call for the stock or send you a power of attorney."

"Yes," said Silas.

"Come to my office tomorrow and I will have a deed ready to be signed, also a receipt for the stock. Mudge will have to agree not to sell any of his stock till the 1st of January, when ours goes on the market, and then only at the rate of a thousand shares a day."

"Yes," said Silas.

The promoter gave the supposed detective a curious parting glance, as though he wondered at his motive for keeping up his country character, then left him.

When the promoter entered his office the next morning at 10 o'clock, Silas had been waiting for him three hours.

The papers were ready.

"Send these papers to Silas Mudge," said the promoter, "and when they're presented here, duly executed, we'll deliver the stock."

Silas took the papers and studied them for a long while. Finally he asked:

"Hev you got the stock ready?"

"It's in that safe."

"Git it out."

"But you don't expect us to deliver it till you produce Mudge's receipts?"

"Git it out," repeated Silas.

The promoter brought out the stock.

"What'll you give fur it in cash?"

"Cash? Why, let me see—50 per cent of par."

"I'll take it."

The promoter, still believing that for some purpose of his own the supposed detective was keeping up his character of countryman, drew a check for $25,000.

"Don't want that. I want the money."

"I can have it certified."

"Don't want nothin' certified. Gimme the bills."

The promoter went to the bank himself and brought back twenty-five one thousand dollar bills. Silas put one hand on the pile and with the other signed the papers.

"Silas Mudge," exclaimed the promoter.

"Yes," said Silas.

Silas shoved the bills into his capacious pocket and moved toward the door, leaving the promoter gawping after him.

The stock of the Mudge Mining company went on the market at par and gradually sank to nothing, 200,000 shares having been disposed of at an average of $45. The promoters made a handsome thing, the public were gulled and Silas Mudge was content with the sale of his patrimony.

"I spec' the galoot what pretended to be me," said Silas, "was one of the company."

Fell Down An Elevator Shaft

Mr. E. J. Beallion of Middletown Springs, Vt., says:—
"Last fall I was badly hurt from a fall down an elevator shaft and was not able to work until March and then my work hurt me very much. I was so weak that it seemed that I would have to give up. I saw your wonderful 'Blood Wine' advertised about that time and went to McCallen & Farmer's Drug Store at Rutland and purchased a bottle. I began to feel better right away. The pain in my back disappeared. I grew stronger every day, everything slept well and now am entirely cured and as strong as ever. My wife also finds it a wonderful medicine."

Mr. F. S. Sanborn, M. C., of 14 High St. Lynn, says:—
"Blood Wine is a great restorer when you are all tired out. I have tried a great many things but honestly believe 'Blood Wine' to be the best of them all." Fifty cents a bottle.

An Ordinance.

To Improve Cedar Street from East Main street to a point opposite the Office of Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Newark, Ohio:

Section 1. That Cedar street, from East Main street to a point opposite the office of Cedar Hill Cemetery, be improved by grading, preparing foundation and laying paving blocks thereon, and setting a curb on either side of said street in accordance with the resolution to improve the same adopted by the Council on the 21st day of July, 1902.

Section 2. That the cost and expense of said improvement, less one-fifth of the entire cost and less the cost of street and alley lights, be assessed upon the lots and lands abutting on said street by the foot front, according to benefits.

Section 3. Said assessments, if deferred, are to be payable in two or semi-annual installments and to be collected as provided by law in the ordinance making assessments a lien after to be passed.

Section 4. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and the publication. Passed October 24, 1902.

HARRY W. ROSSER, Pres.
F. T. MAURATH, City Clerk.

A TREASURE OF INDIA

[Copyright, 1902, by C. E. Lewis.]
The treasure hidden at the time of the Indian mutiny was only a year ago estimated at $100,000,000.

In 1803 I was on a commission of three officers, headed by a Mr. Grant, to inspect the temple at Rhetta, the government offering to rebuild it. Before reaching the place it was reported to us that spirits had taken possession of the ruins. Strange lights were seen at night, and the sound of stones being moved was heard. We paid no attention to these stories and camped near the desolated town.

The site was covered with shrubs and grass and vines, and here and there were groves of young trees. No figures had been seen in that neighborhood for years, but the place looked like a paradise for panthers, wolves, hyenas and serpents. That evening, while we were settling down in our new quarters, a number of stones were suddenly thrown with great force at one of the natives who had strayed beyond the limits of the camp, hitting him on the head and knocking him insensible for several minutes. The missiles came from a thicket between us and the first ruins of the town, and after we had located the direction we fired a volley from our guns and put an end to the disturbance. The native servants were thrown into a state of great consternation, believing and arguing that our presence had offended the spirits keeping guard over the ruins, and but for Mr. Grant's threats the crowd would have bolted and left us.

"I think I see into this business," he explained to us after the servants had been quieted down. "These ruins have either been taken possession of by a band of robbers or there is a party here hunting for treasure. In either case our presence is undesirable, and that demonstration was to drive us away. We'll try to make it a bad job for them, whoever they are."

Soon after daylight one of the natives, who now had recovered a portion of his natural courage, inspected the shrubbery and found plenty of evidence that it had been occupied by men during the night. Some of the stones thrown at us were found to have been freshly broken from large blocks.

After breakfast the five of us moved down on the head of the village, leaving the camp in charge of the natives. Opposite the ruins of the temple we entered the thicket, Mr. Grant leading and the rest of us following in Indian file. We had not advanced a hundred feet when we heard sobs and moans from both sides of us, and one would have sworn that a dozen women in distress were wandering about.

The sounds appeared quite close to us, yet we could not detect the presence of a human being. Suddenly as we continued to push ahead the thicket echoed such screams and shrieks that my knees gave out, and I had to clutch a limb to support me. I expected to be ridiculed for my exhibit, but the others came to a halt, with serious faces, and the engineer said:

"I'm blessed if the sounds don't give me a chill, though I know it's all a blooming trick of the gang to keep us out. There must be a lot of men in there."

A block of stone which seemed to be four feet long, a foot thick and three wide was lying in the grass within four feet of us as we stood in a group. This block suddenly stood on end, rose into the air fully six feet and then fell to the earth with a jar which made things tremble. I tell you simply what five of us saw or thought we saw. What sort of jugglery it was I don't pretend to say, but it was jugglery of some sort, of course. Directly after the stone fell four or five large pieces of rock came crashing about our ears, and all beat a speedy retreat.

A messenger was dispatched at once to Rhetta, which is a military post, but it was three days before the soldiers came up. There were ninety of them, and though we heard nothing further from the treasure hunters while waiting we felt sure they were still among the ruins. The troops entered from three different directions, having orders to shoot down anything they sighted, but the whole place was beaten up and only one native found. He was lying among the ruins of the temple with a broken leg. He was a Sholaga from the hills, and after having been carried to camp and his injuries attended to he talked freely.

The party had numbered fifty men and had been working for two weeks when we appeared. The leader had been told of the existence of a cavern under the ruins of the temple, and had labored hard in their efforts to reach it. As we afterward saw for ourselves, they had moved at least a thousand tons of debris before opening the cavern. Their appliances were of the rudest sort, and everything had been accomplished by main strength. The cavern was found the day the soldiers came, and in opening it this native had been hurt. His friends had abandoned him deliberately, but he bore them no grudge. On the contrary, he was grateful to know that the treasure had occupied the English. When asked as to its value, his eyes sparkled joyously, and he answered:

"Sabib, there were millions! Over thirty men had each a heavy load and made ready to carry when I faintly awoke. It would have made a hundred Englishmen rich for life."

We found the cavern to be a room 9 feet long, 6 feet broad and 10 high. It had been swept clean. The native said it was nearly full of gold and silver and plate and jewelry. If so, the great value was a tremendous big sum, and the fellows must have had to make two or three trips of it to carry everything away.

In the Field of Sport.

O. S. U. Not Discouraged.

The Ohio State University football team indulged in light practice Monday afternoon, but on account of the hard game Saturday at Ann Arbor, Coach Hale did not insist on the regular players reporting, so that the practice was indulged in principally by the scrubs.

College spirit at the university has not been broken by the crushing defeat at the hands of Michigan, and students and players still think they have an excellent chance for the state championship. They play Case on November 8, and should Case win, the championship will be decided at Cleveland on the 15th, when Ohio Wesleyan plays there. Should O. S. U. win however, the deciding game will be played at Delaware, on November 22, when O. W. U. and O. S. U. meet.

Apathy at Delaware.

There comes a report from Delaware that there is a general apathy among the local players since the opening game born probably of overconfidence after the Oberlin victory. O. W. U. was held by Otterbein Saturday and the playing of the team was not such as to encourage confidence that they could beat Case or Ohio State. Many think the Methodists have gone stale, and that Boyle's work will be cut out for him to get the players on edge for the important contests yet to be decided.

Motor Cyclist Killed.

New York, Oct. 28—Frank E. L. well of Brooklyn, an international authority on motor cycling and a frequent contributor to the magazines on this sport has been killed near Hicksville, L. I., while participating in a race. The stem of his machine broke as he was speeding along at a fast clip and he was hurled to the ground with such force that his neck was broken. He well had traveled through Europe.

No. 7 leaves Newark at 8:50 a. m., arriving at St. Louis 9:40 p. m. No. 19 leaves Newark 12:58 p. m., arriving at St. Louis 7:12 a. m. These trains have through coaches, sleepers and dining cars and the equipment and time is not surpassed by any line anywhere. These trains arrive in the Union Station, St. Louis, one of the largest and finest equipped stations in the world. Trains for all directions connect with the Pennsylvania lines, here, so that to change cars is not the trouble it was a few years ago. If you contemplate a trip west please keep in mind the superior advantages offered by the Pennsylvania lines.

DOING THEIR DUTY

Scores of Newark Readers are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys.

To filter the blood is the kidney's duty. When they fail to do this the kidneys are sick.

Backache and many kidney ills follow:

Urinary trouble, diabetes. Doan's Kidney Pills cure them all. Newark people endorse our claim.

Mrs. George Graff, of No. 25 Spencer street says: I had a terrible bad back which successfully resisted all efforts in the way of porous plasters and medicines to relieve it. It was just across the loins, where the greatest strain falls, so that I could not get up when I was down. I awakened in the morning scarcely able to shift my body. As I moved about my household work I was often in actual torture. For three months I suffered all the time until one day a neighbor gave me a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills. I took them and the benefit was so apparent that I sent down to Clayton's drug store and procured a box. Before very long I discarded the plasters, the kidney secretions looked clear and natural and I had not a pain in my head or back.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Asia and Northern Africa on the machine that caused his death. There were 72 cyclists in the party. As the party neared Hicksville he put on full power in order to catch up with the others and while crossing the railroad tracks his machine suddenly fell apart. When a physician reached him he was dead.

American Enters New York.

New York, Oct. 28—Ban B. Johnson, president of the American Baseball League, who is in this city, said regarding the announcement just made of the list of players for the proposed new team here:

"Every man on the list has been signed by an America League club, and moreover, I know the contracts will be lived up to. Baltimore is to be dropped from our circuit to make way for New York and in this city—right in Manhattan—we have leased grounds not only convenient, but accessible."

"We have made known the names of the players who will compose the New York team, and our next step will be to inform the public of the location of our park. The time is not yet ripe for us to divulge the locality, but I will do so shortly. I have been balked once or twice in my plans, but this time everything is all right and there is nothing ahead but plain sailing."

Root Gets Decision.

At a meeting of the Athletic Council of Cornell university Monday it was decided to send a crew to Henley next year to compete in the international regatta.

AMBULANCE

Of Latest Design and Improvements Purchased by Bowers & Bradley the Undertakers.

The already extensive equipment of Bowers & Bradley, the well known firm of undertakers and funeral directors, has been completed by the addition of a $1,000 ambulance wagon, which arrived direct from the Rock Falls Manufacturing company at Rockfall, Illinois, and was put in service last week.

The ambulance is the latest improved pattern and is the kind that is used by only the best institutions in the large cities.

The wagon is larger than the old one used by this firm and carries a fine black piano finish, which makes it a handsome vehicle.

The interior is paneled on sides and top with seasoned and polished poplar, the side panels being so constructed that they can be removed from the inside, leaving the sides of glass. The vehicle in this shape being capable of use as a hearse, funeral car or for carrying flowers.

The interior is equipped with a padded basket stretcher, suspended from the top by springs, which allows the sick or injured to be transported with the very least possible jolt or jar.

Under the front seat is placed the storage batteries which furnish the lights on the side of the wagon, and also on the interior. Besides the light in the ceiling mellowed with a white frosted globe, there is an electric search light to be used in finding a body lying in the dark some place. These lights are controlled by switches, to the hand of the driver.

The monogram initials "B. & B." are frosted pretty on the glass at each side of the driver.

The ambulance is the finest thing of its kind ever in Newark, and its service will be rendered to the public upon request, absolutely free of charge.

WHAT IS WORN.

The New Felt Hats—Pale Colors the Fad.

The new felt hats are very shallow and closely cut at the back, projecting greatly in front, and are trimmed with velvet and pads of fancy feathers shaded brown and fancy tints. They are relieved with touches of vivid tints.

BLUE TAFFETA GOWN.

quaise, orange or red and blue, and merle feathers are intermixed with imperyan pheasant plumes. Mercury wings of varied coloring are also used on autumn hats, and paste, silver and steel buckles and ornaments are more fashionable than those in gilt or bronze.

For pretty dinner and evening gowns there are dainty striped chine louisins in pastel colorings or darker tones, with a plain colored stripe a little over a quarter of an inch wide, a narrow black and white beading stripe laid on the top.

Although white will be much worn this winter in heavy cloths, yet beaver, castor and mouse tints will be seen a great deal, as these trim well with the darker guipure laces and look well with almost any fur.

The kimono coat is admirable with a fur stole and this shape is also smart for evening wear. The lace coat is extremely elegant and in cream or ivory lace over white satin it is seen at its best. The usual decoration is chiffon. The blue taffeta gown here shown is trimmed in an original manner with Persian embroidery and silk tassels.

HANDSOME MATERIALS.

Elaborateness the keynote in Evening Gowns.

White and black beaver are very popular for the tricorne hat. Gold and silver braid will be used on hats to be worn with tailor made dresses. These simple hats are decorated with rosettes of moire, silk, velvet or taffeta.

Velvet and silk will be used lavishly as trimmings to cloth dresses. Green, brown and a new ready red will be about the favorite tones for the early autumn. Fantastic trimmings made of clump, guipure and silk will not be noticeable on the cloth frocks, while on serge gowns we shall see flat braids dotted with white and silver spots.

Evening dress later on will be very costly, heavy embroideries being very much used. There is a return to the old fashioned silks and satins, which are as sumptuous as the purple will allow.

Lace dresses are still in vogue, and some lovely Parisian models show panels of painted pame. The tendency in evening dress is toward elaboration.

The dress illustrated is of ecrú crepe de chine and white lace run through on the waist with a narrow scarf of black lace.

AS OLD AGE CREEPS ON

Men and Women Can Keep Themselves Hale, Vigorous, and Happy by UsingPAINE'S
Celery Compound

The human system in old age must have a sufficient store of nervous energy, and rich, nourishing blood, so that the liver and kidneys may be kept in perfect action, and the body free from pain. Paine's Celery Compound is the true invigorator when old age creeps on and the vital powers commence to fail. Paine's Celery Compound gives the needed stimulus to digestion and assimilation that the system requires; it maintains a regular supply of pure blood, and removes such troubles as rheumatism, neuralgia, nervous weakness, heart palpitation, liver complaint and digestive disturbances, that make the lives of old people miserable. Rev. John Rice, Scotch Grove, Iowa, says:

"My wife and I have used two bottles of Paine's Celery Compound with great advantage to our general health.
It cured her rheumatism and proved a good regulator of the system in general and a tonic for the nerves. In my own case I have found it a cure for kidney trouble arising from my old age, as I am now in my 75th year. In this trouble it has given me almost instant relief."

WAR PAINT

And Firewater in Beer Glasses Put the Indians in Shape for the Big Celebration.

St. Louis, Oct. 28.—Had the great Geronimo himself conducted the ceremonies, he could not have inspired more terror than the 30 copper colored subjects of Uncle Sam who assembled at Union Station yesterday to celebrate the birth of a full blooded pawpaw born but a few hours before on a Vandalia train en route to St.
Louis. The Indians belong to the Cherokee and Cheyenne tribes. The new arrival is the daughter of Milton and Minnie Strong. Within the memory of the oldest Indian there had been no such tradition as a Cheyenne first seeing the light of day on a railroad train. In fact, there is a certain suspicion about a birth occurring under such circumstances. It was to cast off the "hoodoo" if such there was,
that a "war dance" was planned at Union Station.

The Indians rushed from the train in the glad regalia of war paint and feathers stuck from their hair. Their faces presented the colors of the rainbow. They stormed the bar and there began an impromptu dance to the accompaniment of yells. Whisky was furnished them repeatedly and when the braves came into the "influence" they discarded the ordinary glass and insisted that their firewater be poured into beer glasses. When the whites remonstrated the trouble began. Glasses were smashed, pictures punctured and the pale faced habitues of the cafe put to rout. The riot call brought a squad of policemen, who after a strenuous half hour, cleared the saloon.

After the festive Indians departed from the saloon they, inaugurated a sort of war dance on the Midway, gathering around in a circle and frightening away an impatient crowd waiting for an incoming train. With the aid of the combined city and station police the infant was finally christened "Forty Miles an Hour" and then the Indians left.

KNIGHTS OF ST. JOHN—Regular meeting of St. Francis de Sales Commandery, No. 151, will be held at the hall on Tuesday evening, October 28

TRUSTS

RECEIVE A TELLING BLOW FROM SENATOR HOAR,Who Delivers Speech to Select Republican Organization in Boston that Will Help Democrats.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 28.—In a speech
last night before the Chickatawunt Club, one of the most select Republican organizations in Massachusetts, Senator George F. Hoar paid his respects to trusts in most emphatic language. His remarks came as a great surprise, but were no more so than the generous applause that greeted his most pointed speech. In view of the senior Senator's steadfastness to Republicanism, the stand he took before the Chickatawunts will without any doubt, win the Democrats thousands of votes in the old Bay
State. Coming as it does after Mr.
Hoar's well-known statements on the Philippine question, it simply puts another thorn in the side of Massachusetts, if not of national, Republicanism.

An important feature of Mr. Hoar's speech was in regard to the power of Congress to control trusts and curb the great evils from which the people are now suffering. After stating what can be done to curb trusts under the Sherman law, Mr. Hoar said:
"But the Sherman law has by no means exhausted the national power over the subject. We have the right to require in all interstate and international transactions the safeguards which have in general been employed for the State of Massachusetts in regard to our local corporations."

"We have the right also to prohibit all transactions of interstate or international commerce by corporations."

"We have the right to impose on them any conditions that may be thought fit."

"We can compel them to keep accounts."

"We can submit them to Government inspection."

"We can prohibit the watering of stock."

"Above all, we can enact that unless all national regulations be complied with, the exemption of personal liability for the stockholders shall not exist."

"We can require every corporation, great or small, to do the bidding of Congress at the peril of exposing its members to individual liability for all its debts and obligations, and of being prohibited from doing inter-state business altogether."

"So I myself find no trouble in the matter of legislative power and see no necessity for any constitutional amendment."

"If as I believe, Congress may rightfully prohibit any corporation or joint stock company from engaging in the inter-state or international commerce at all, it can prescribe the conditions on which it can so engage."

"It can declare that it shall submit its affairs to the inspection of Government agency as banks submit their affairs to Government inspection, and,
as in Massachusetts, railroad and savings banks and insurance companies submit theirs to Government inspection. It can compel their accounts to be made public. It can prohibit the watering of stock."

"It can prohibit every form of combination which shall prevent competition. It can make the penalty for the violation of any of these regulations a personal liability of all its stockholders for its debts and obligations, as we in Massachusetts make the stockholders or directors liable for a violation of our laws."

Christian Union.

Sunday was a red letter day in the Christian Union Chapel. The chapel was decorated with autumn foliage, cut flowers and potted plants, palms and ferns. The service was in the nature of a Fall Festival or old people's service. A large number of elderly people were present and took an active part in the exercises singing the old familiar hymns of their youth, and testifying to God's providential care all through life. The sermon was an appropriate one for the occasion. The congregation in the evening filled the building to hear Dr. Maxwell's sermon lecture. The subject announced for next Sunday evening is "The Choice of Moses, or Wise or Otherwise."

SAFE BLOWN OPEN

Pittsburg, Oct. 28.—The office of the West Moreland Coal company at Irwin, Pa., was burglarized by a gang of six thieves last midnight. John Hamberg, Sr., watchman, was struck on the head, then bound and gagged.
A large vault in the office was blown open and over $300 was taken together with five Winchester rifles, one revolver and a watch.

WIFE WILL DIE.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 28.—Reese Davis aged 58, one of the most respected residents of Homestead is in the borough lockup with the probability that before evening he will have to answer to the charge of murdering his wife. About 9 o'clock this morning neighbors found Davis in the coal shed beating his wife with an ax. Her skull was fractured and she was suffering from other injuries. It is supposed he was insane when he made the murderous assault.

Engineers Coming.

An important meeting of Division
No. 36, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers of this city, will be held here tomorrow, and a large number of representative engineers from all over the country are expected to be in attendance. This is the regular quarterly meeting of the engineers, at which many important questions will be brought up for discussion. The session will wind up with a banquet at Brennan's Hall tomorrow night.

FIRE RAGING

Fine Sorghum Syrup.

Mr. John S. Loughman of Hopewell township, has been in the business of manufacturing sorghum with great success the present season. He has a complete outfit for grinding the cane, pressing it and evaporating the juice and making it into syrup. Farmers bring their cane to Mr. Loughman and he manufactures the syrup for them. He has made some 900 gallons during the present season and will make some 200 gallons more. We have seen a sample of the syrup. Mr. Loughman turns out and can speak knowingly as to its fine quality. Sorghum manufactured in this way is destined to become a valuable article of domestic use in every household.

Real Economy

Did you ever find after buying a Suit that you hadn't the courage to wear it after a few weeks' service? It's a streak of misplaced economy to buy cheap clothes. It pays to buy good clothes. It is possible to get clothing that is just as well made and as good fitting as any tailor in the land can produce and still be very economically priced.

In this connection we wish to call your attention to the splendid line of FALL SUITS we show at

$15.00

They are made up in the height of fashion, made of pure all Wool Cheviots, Cassimeres, Worsteds and Scotchies—and they fit perfectly. In this line you are able to get the same cloth, linings and workmanship that the tailor asks you $39 for, and we claim it is true economy to buy these at $15.00.

We are sole agents for Newark for Clothcraft Clothing for Men. The new fall styles of Suits, Top Coats and Overcoats are now ready for your inspection.

DEATH

Of Elizabeth Cady Stanton, the Well Known Woman Suffragist in New York Sunday.

New York, Oct. 28—Elizabeth Cady Stanton the well known woman suffragist died Sunday at her home in West Ninety-fourth street Sunday. Old age was given as the cause of death. She was conscious almost to the last. About a week ago Mrs. Stanton began to fail rapidly. This became more noticeable last week and then it was known to the family that her death was only a question of days or hours.

The children with Mrs. Stanton when she died were Mrs. M. F. Lawrence and Mrs. Stanton Blatch, of New York; Henry and Robert L. of New York; Theodore, of Paris, and Mrs. G. Smith, a real estate broker at Warden Cliff, Long Island. The funeral will be held on Wednesday, but the hour has not been set. The interment will be in Woodlawn cemetery.

INDEPENDENT

Telephone Properties Are to be Improved.—Mr. Everett Succeeded by F. S. Dickson.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 28—Henry A. Everett of the Everett-Moore syndicate, has resigned the Presidency of the Federal Telephone company and also of the Cuyahoga Telephone company of this city. He is succeeded in both companies by Frederick S. Dickson of New Jersey, who is connected with the Roebling company of New Jersey.

The Federal controls a large number of independent local companies in Ohio, and also the United States (long distance).

The change it is said, means that the independent telephone interests in this and adjacent states will be greatly extended.

It is understood that at least $1,000,000 will be devoted to developing the various telephone properties.

Mr. Everett it is said, will continue as a director in the Federal Telephone company.

In an interview Mr. Dickson, the new president of the Federal and Cuyahoga Telephone companies, said: "It is the intention not to sell, but to put the property of all the companies controlled by the Federal Telephone company in the best condition, so as to make them valuable. We are not offering any for sale. The Cuyahoga system will be one of the first to be attended to, the Canton, Lima and others, as rapidly as we can get to them."

CELEBRATES THIRTY-FOURTH ANNIVERSARY

Of the Institution of the Fraternal Order.—Program of the Evening is Below.

Monday was a great day with one of the leading fraternal insurance societies of the country—the Ancient Order of United Workmen—it being the 34th anniversary of its organization.

Thirty-four years ago Monday John Jordan Upchurch organized the first lodge of the A. O. U. W. at Meadville, Pa. Mr. Upchurch was a machinist, working in the machine shops at Meadville, Pa., but for years his mind had been occupied with the problem of cheaper insurance for the people through the medium of a grand fraternal organization. The outcome of his thinking was the A. O. U. W.—the pioneer fraternal insurance company of the country. This order has made wonderful progress in the 34 years of its existence. Today it is carrying over $1,000,000,000 of insurance for its members. Since its organization it has paid out in insurance losses nearly $500,000,000 in addition to its charities and other benefactions, and today it carries on its membership books an army 450,000 strong.

Such in general are some of the good results that have been accomplished by this order in the short period of 34 years.

Golden Rod Lodge, A. O. U. W. was established in Newark on July 24, 1891, and Crescent Lodge, A. O. U. W. was established within the last year. The two lodges have a membership of 500, and are growing rapidly. In addition to this a branch of Ladies' Auxiliary of the A. O. U. W. called the Degree of Honor, has been established here, and is flourishing. Golden Rod lodge also enjoys the distinction of having two Grand Lodge officers among its membership. Dr. I. N. Palmer, who is Grand Master Workman of Ohio, and Mr. Wallace Rank who is Grand Guide of Ohio. Mrs. Wallace Rank is also Grand Chief of Ceremonies of the Grand Degree of Honor.

The beautiful and spacious lodge rooms of Golden Rod Lodge in the Woodbridge block on the South Side of the Square, were filled with an audience of several hundred people on Monday evening to witness the celebration of the 34th anniversary of the order, and a large proportion of the audience was ladies. The room was handsomely decorated for the occasion and brilliantly lighted with electricity, presenting a very attractive appearance.

The program consisted of topical songs, embodying the teachings of the order and illustrated with beautiful stereopticon views, thrown upon a screen, while the room was darkened. Addresses appropriate to the occasion were also made by well known members of the order.

Mr. Wallace Rank presided at the opening of the meeting and introduced Dr. Palmer, who presided during the remainder of the evening. The quartet, with Mrs. Rev. L. S. Boyce as soloist, was beautiful and highly appreciated. Mr. Perry Pratt skillfully manipulated the slides for the stereopticon views. Following is the program that was rendered and thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Opening song, with views, "America."

Prayer, Rev. L. S. Boyce.

Introductory Address, Dr. I. N. Palmer.

Song, with views, "Vesper Bells."

Address, "Thirty-four Years of the A. O. U. W.," Judge E. M. P. Brister.

Illustrated lecture on teachings of the order, with views, Harry Rexroth, Past Master Workman of Golden Rod Lodge.

During the lecture the quartet sang, "Home, Sweet Home," "Nearer, My God to Thee," and chanted the Lord's Prayer.

Benediction, Rev. L. S. Boyce.

The entire occasion was a complete success, and was very much enjoyed by those who were present.

A COMPLETE SURPRISE.

One of the most pleasant surprises ever given in Sharon Valley was the one given on Mr. Amos Horner at his beautiful home west of the city by his wife and neighbors, it being the 21st anniversary of their marriage. Friends and relatives gathered to the number of about 85 from Newark and Chatham and their own neighborhood. A splendid dinner was served. The afternoon was spent in pleasant social chat and about 4 o'clock all departed for their homes, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Horner many more such pleasant wedding anniversaries. A GUEST.

DEATH

Of Mrs. Harriet Crouse, Aged 77 Years, at the Home of Her Daughter Monday.

Mrs. Harriet Crouse aged 77 years, died at the home of her daughter, Miss Malinda Crouse, 18 Maholm street, about 1 o'clock Monday afternoon, of old age.

The deceased was a widow and leaves eight children. They are John and Malinda of Newark, Mrs. Mazie Green, Mrs. Mollie Groves and Jacob Crouse of Lancaster, Mrs. A. J. Bope, of Van Wert, Mrs. J. C. Gamble and Mrs. Mauger of Pickerington.

The remains were shipped to Baltimore, Ohio, and the funeral will take place there.

BOYS

Crowded Into Taylor Hall to Hear Strough Lecture—Many Were Turned Away.

"The Modern Prodigal Son," revised to meet the needs of boys, was the subject of the illustrated lecture delivered Monday afternoon by Francis A. A. Strough who delivered the last two of his series of splendid lectures last night.

An invitation had been given to the boys of Newark to hear the lecture but the Y. M. C. A. officials did not expect any such results as followed. Taylor hall was filled to overflowing fully 800 boys being crowded into the hall. Many could not gain admission.

Mr. Strough presented his lecture in an admirable manner illustrating it with suitable pictures which held the close attention of the boys. At the conclusion many boys signed cards expressing their desire to lead a Christian life and it is hoped that good results through the Sunday schools of the city will come out of the lecture.

Last night Mr. Strough closed his series of lectures before a large audience his subject being "Washington and Through the Historic South."

PROPERTY SALE—Geo. Wallace closed a sale today of a storeroom on Fourth street in the rear of the Advocate office, lot 39 by 80. The writer has a strong personal friendship for this property from the fact that sixteen years ago he sold it to Mr. W. H. Verton, afterwards to James Roman, then to Wm. Green, then to A. H. Pierson, and now the last time to Charles C. Metz.
